Cambodia - Geographical Status

HISTORY AND GEOGRAPHY

Cambodia, officially knows as the Kingdom of Cambodia, is a country located in the Southern portion of the Indochina Peninsula in Southeast Asia. It is bordered with Thailand to the Northwest, Laos to the Northeast, Vietnam to the East, and the Gulf of Thailand to the Southwest with an area of 181,035 square kilometers. Its capital city is Phnom Penh which is nowadays a city of contrasts but it has conserved its charm, especially in the area along the banks of the Mekong river.

Cambodia is largely a land of plains and great rivers and lies amid important overland and river trade routes linking China to India and Southeast Asia.

The Mekong River, which flows through the country, and the Tonle Sap (Great Lake) are the lifeline of the people who live along the waterways. The Tonle Sap is one of the richest sources of freshwater fish in the world. There are three main mountain ranges, namely the Cardamom mountains in the South West, the Dangkrek mountains in the North and the Annamite mountains in the North East. These 3 regions are part of a vast tropical wilderness providing a home to elusive wildlife and a gateway to emerging ecotourism adventures.

Destination Tips

The Wet Season

Early/Mid May – October

Rainy season in Cambodia starts from May to early October with a daytime temperatures average between 25°C and 27°C. The early months of the wet season (May – July) remain very hot with infrequent rainfall usually in the form of short downpours. In the latter months (late July – September) the rain tends to become more constant and is heavy at times, especially in coastal and rural regions.

Rainy season is the perfect time of year to visit the flooded forests and floating villages of Tonle Sap Lake by boat, explore the countryside and temples (Angkor Wat in particular is stunning in the wet season).

You can be sure of sunshine and heat in the southern islands, which is perfect for lazy days on the beach and water activities.

During the hottest of the year, we can arrange a visit to the temple early in the morning and late afternoon which gives you a few hours to relax by the hotel pool after lunchtime.
