- Video conference Interpretation

Simultaneous Interpretation

It is a mode of interpreting in which the interpreter in a booth listens to the speaker through a headphone and simultaneously interprets the speaker in a language that the audience can understand through a microphone. Interpreters are usually dispatched in pairs. It is often used for large-scale events

Consecutive Interpretation

It is a mode of interpreting in which the interpreter listens to the speaker in the same place, takes notes, and delivers what the speaker has said to the audience in the first person. When clients request, we provide it in a flexible way. It is often used for small meetings with a few attendees

Relay Interpretation

It is a mode of interpreting suitable for meetings where 3 or more official languages are used. For example, when the speaker speaks in English, the English-Korean interpreter interprets it into Korean and then the Korean-Chinese interpreter interprets Korean into Chinese. It is suitable for international events in which three or more languages are used as official languages.

Whispering Interpretation

IT IS A MODE OF INTERPRETING IN WHICH THE INTERPRETER DELIVERS A MESSAGE IN A WHISPER NEXT TO THE AUDIENCE, WHICH WORKS BEST FOR SMALL GROUPS OR ONE-ON-ONE CONVERSATIONS, SUCH AS PERSONAL AND EXECUTIVE MEETINGS.

Accompanying Interpretation

It is a mode of interpreting in which the interpreter provides interpreting service by accompanying those who need foreign language services. We recommend this service for foreign buyers' or corporate inspectors' visits, business trips, and VIPs' (e.g., heads of countries, celebrities, or political officials) visits. It works best for VIP protocols.

Telephone Interpretation

This service helps you communicate when having conference calls or business phone calls with foreign companies. It is a mode of interpreting in which the interpreter interprets over the phone or visits a client company in person, which is similar to consecutive interpretation.

Video Conference Interpretation

-We provide a consecutive or simultaneous interpreting service for video conferences, online conferences, and forums to change with the times. Simply, it is an online version of our existing interpreting service, so we recommend you the best method to run your event considering the type of your event in the same manner as our offline interpreting service. This service can mainly be used for various online events such as general meetings, export conferences, product launch events, summit meetings, and YouTube live streaming. We also provide rental and setup services of webcams, microphones, and interpreting equipment required for video conferences
