KROYA RESTAURANT

Located in Shinta Mani Club and helmed by Khmer Chef Chanrith Van, Kroya -which means “food” in the Khmer Royal language, is the Shinta Mani Club’s unique restaurant inspired its heritage. The menu blends international as well as local product, combining fresh ingredients, native herbs and spices, to create innovative, palette pleasing flavours. Those seeking an unforgettable Khmer culinary experience can savour the authentic taste of traditional Cambodian cuisine with a unique 7 set Tasting Menu which follows the seasons and the local harvest. Other signature dishes include the grilled duck breast, five spice-port wine reduction, sautéed kalian and pumpkin croquette. Meals may be enjoyed indoors or outdoors on one of the Khmer swings. The restaurant can seat 38 people indoors and 34 people outdoors.

Growing up in a household with no sisters, Chef Chanrith first had his taste of cooking as a young boy when was taught how to cook traditional Khmer cuisine by his mother and grandmother. Chef Chanrith has over 15 years of experience under his culinary belt. He started his career as a Commis Chef, and rose up the ranks with positions in Siem Reap’s leading hotels as well as an overseas stint at Park Hyatt in Dubai with acclaimed restaurant “Traiteur”. His love for Khmer cuisine was rekindled during a stint at an NGO affiliated training restaurant from where he started to explore the traditional cuisine in Cambodia. This discovery process culminated in his current role as Kroya’s Executive Chef. He is proud to be able to showcase Khmer food as one of the great cuisines of South East Asia and share with guests and visitors his culinary dreams and experience.

Kroya Operating Hours:

THE STEAKHOUSE AT PUB STREET

Tucked away in Siem Reap's Old Market area, The Steakhouse at Pub Street is Shinta Mani’s newest culinary concept. Launched in the form of an American steakhouse, it serves prime cuts grilled to perfection paired with abundant side dishes, over the top desserts and a comprehensive international wine list. Some of its signature dishes include sliced wok-fried lamb with cresson, Kampot pepper and lime sauce. Its prime location allows guests to experience and enjoy the eclectic vibes of Siem Reap’s Downtown area. Sit outside and people-watch in the arty, pedestrianised Passage, or favour the cool air-conditioned interior with its funky lighting, 30m wooden wave wall and floor to ceiling wine cellar. The restaurant can seat 50 people indoors and 12 people outdoors.
