Students Safaris in Africa

Travel . Study . Interact . Impact

In today's world, class work is not enough. We need the ability to transform what we learn in class to practical life situations. Our student trips are hands-on, experiential travel that expose and offer study opportunities to students and independent travellers on culture, history, conservation, language and culture, resources and the communities in Africa. These educational tours provide hands-on learning that challenge, reinforce and adapt the lessons and knowledge learned in the classroom; engaging the student mentally, physically and emotionally.

We visit coffee, tea and sugar farms, local communities, locals crafting centres and factories and learn.

Our trips enhance adventure experiences that enable students to develop life skills leadership, communication skills, responsibility, compassion and empathy, problem solving, analytical and critical thinking, tolerance, trust, health and physical fitness.
