Bariloche

Bariloche, Surrounded by lakes that enhance the beauty of the place and mountains, it is obvious to say that most of the activities are related with the lakes: sailing, kayaking, stand up paddle boarding, rafting or just relaxing to see the outstanding views.

Have you thought about an extraordinary cooking class by the Lake? This Patagonian land is full of surprises! It is a combination of amazing places, unique experiences, and delicious food: the perfect place to create new activities.

A true dream you can enjoy all year around! During Spring and Summer, outdoor activities have the most stunning views, and during the winter season, it becomes the main skiing resort in South America.

Ushuaia

Ushuaia is the capital city of Tierra del Fuego. Due to its position, Ushuaia is known as the End of the World City.

It is located on the banks of the Beagle Channel, a waterway that takes its name from the sailboat that circumnavigated the land under the command of the explorer Fitz Roy, with the naturalist Charles Darwin on board.

Ushuaia enchant for its natural, green and wild landscapes, which give it a particular charm and give it a feeling of distance from the rest of the world.

A city that depending on the time of year in which it is it is visited, welcomes us with another landscape, never ceasing to amaze us.

Many amazing activities to do, 4x4, canoeing, King Crab fishing, Navigation, trekking but my favorite is to walk between the Penguins in the Martillo island.
