Destination & Hotel Brief

Mara Naboisho Conservancy – Encounter Mara Camp

Mara Naboisho Conservancy offers one of the most exclusive wildlife experiences in the Greater Mara, where limited camp numbers and community-led conservation create a truly intimate safari setting. Guests enjoy unrivalled sightings of lions, cheetahs and large resident herbivore herds with minimal vehicle presence, ensuring uninterrupted photography and immersive wildlife moments. Staying at a high-end Naboisho camp elevates the experience through elegant tented suites, personalised guiding, and warm Maasai hospitality that reflects the spirit of the conservancy. The camp's ability to offer night game drives, guided bush walks and authentic cultural encounters is a major unique selling point, allowing guests to connect with nature on multiple levels. Stylish communal areas, exceptional cuisine and serene wilderness views blend seamlessly with the conservancy's rich biodiversity – creating a stay that feels both luxurious and deeply meaningful.

Serengeti National Park – Ubuntu Migration Camp

The Lamai region of the Northern Serengeti is the heart of the Great Migration's grandest drama and Ubuntu Migration Camp places guests right at the edge of this spectacular wildlife theatre. Set near the Mara River, the camp's mobility ensures it follows the herds, offering front-row access to the dramatic river crossings that define the migration season. The landscape of sweeping plains, dramatic kopjes and predator-rich valleys is matched by the camp's understated luxury—intimate canvas suites, warm hospitality and personal touches that make every guest feel at home in the wilderness. Ubuntu's open-sided 4x4 vehicles, expert guides and flexible game-drive schedules are key unique selling points, capturing both the big moments—like tens of thousands of wildebeest plunging through crocodile-filled waters – and the quiet beauty of Lamai's remote corners. The camp merges adventure with comfort, offering guests a raw yet refined Serengeti experience.

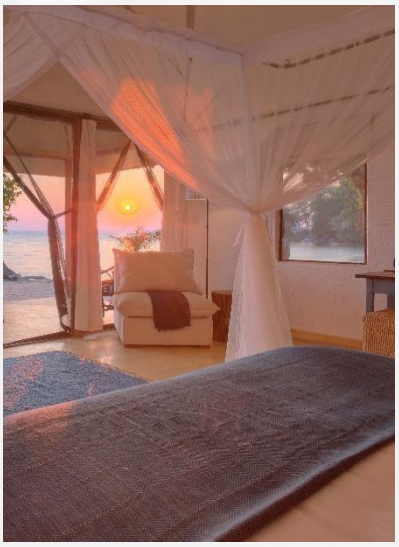

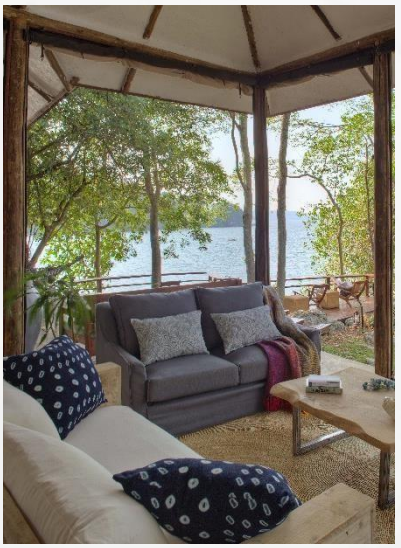

Rubondo Island National Park – Rubondo Island Camp

Rubondo Island is one of Africa's most untouched wilderness sanctuaries and Rubondo Island Camp is the only luxury lodge on the entire island – instantly making the experience exclusive. Surrounded by rainforest, secluded bays and cobalt-blue waters, guests immerse themselves in a side of East Africa rarely seen. The camp's lakeside cottages offer serenity, privacy and a genuine sense of adventure, complemented by personalised service and intimate connection to nature. The island's signature experience – chimpanzee trekking – is among the continent's rarest wildlife encounters and staying at Rubondo Island Camp creates unmatched access. Boat safaris, forest walks, world-class catch-and-release fishing and sightings of sitatunga, forest elephants and prolific birdlife create a diverse and immersive stay. The camp's unique selling point is its solitude and purity – an idyllic blend of barefoot luxury and pristine wilderness.

Amboseli National Park – Tawi Lodge

Amboseli's dramatic scenery, dominated by Mount Kilimanjaro and vast elephant herds, finds the perfect complement in Tawi Lodge's eco-luxury style and prime location in the Kimana Wildlife Corridor. Set in a private conservancy bordering the national park, Tawi Lodge blends indulgent comfort with responsible conservation, offering stylish cottages, private verandas facing Kilimanjaro, and soothing natural springs that attract wildlife right to the lodge's doorstep. Guests indulge in a rich menu of experiences – including day and night game drives, guided bush walks, bush breakfasts and sundowner moments framed by Africa's tallest peak. The lodge's unique selling points include its photographic vantage points of big tuskers, its warm, intimate atmosphere and its seamless connection to Amboseli's landscapes and wildlife rhythms.
