- Lunch is not included in the package.
- Other expenses such as drinks and tips are not included.
- It gets very cold in winter i.e. December through February with temperatures hitting – 30C. You will need to be mentally and physically fit and must have done some high altitude travel in order to be able to handle travelling through this high altitude terrain.
- All hotels and guest houses will be shut at the time and you will only get homestays which have dry eco-friendly squatting toilets. You will need to be okay with this as wet toilets are not available due to water lines freezing.
- Because of the water lines freezing, the locals need to carry the water all the way in the freezing cold from a nearby water source and hence having a bath while you are in Spiti will not be possible.
- In peak winter i.e. January and early February, all the places might not be open due to adverse weather conditions. We will keep you updated of the same in case any last-minute changes need to be made to your plan.
- Winter time is off-season in Spiti, and you will not have many options in terms of activities and because of the cold, you won't be able to move around as much and will end up spending time in the homestay. We recommend travellers to make the most of the situation, and turn their time at the homestay as getting to know more about Spiti-an life, food and culture from the locals.
- Because of winter, there will not be many options in terms of food and in a homestay, you will need to be understanding and eat the hearty but basic food that your hosts provide.
- Be prepared to be understanding and flexible, as we can make last-minute plan changes due to bad weather for your safety and wellbeing.
